

thoughtless music

TLMo26

Signal Deluxe

Lady Dragon

with Marc Cotterell remixes

Mexico City's premium purveyors of forward-minded electronics provide the latest dancefloor fuel for Thoughtless. The title track sees Signal Deluxe evolving in the vein of their recent outings for Persona and Eintakt with an infectious bass groove topped by intricate vocal slivers and shimmering vapors. 'Replicants' takes a darker approach with its core pulsation enhanced by angular latin percussion and futuristic washes of sound. Following his huge 'Places' release for Siteholder Uncut, Marc Cotterell turns in two remixes - the first twisting its sinuous bassline through syncopated corridors to create a hypnotic, serpentine tech-house excursion, while his second take favors a chunkier method crafted from jaunty percussion and prominent chords. Closing out in fine form, 'Sala de Humo' generates a pleasantly disorienting haze of molecules ricocheting, floating and evaporating atop its propulsive underlying beat. Blending deep house, dub and techno elements into a fresh and unique sound, these signals are truly deluxe...

01. Lady Dragon
02. Replicants
03. Replicants – Marc Cotterell Remix 1
04. Replicants – Marc Cotterell Remix 2
05. Sala de Humo

Photograph by Adam Douglas

thoughtlessmusic.com

myspace.com/thoughtlessdigital inform@thoughtlessmusic.com

beatport.com